My dear Sir,

You will be surprised at my troubling you again so soon, but when Mr John Field left Madrid, he requested me to inform him of the result of the Memorial. Yesterday I received an answer to my letter, which somewhat surprised me, and I wish to know your opinion upon the subject. He is quite in your way of thinking with respect to the subscription and says "he will write to a couple of influential friends in the United States, asking them to delicately put the matter before the reading public, and let it take such measures as may be deemed proper. At the same time please let me know how it would be presented in England."

I shall not return any answer to his kind offer until I hear from you, as I consider myself entirely under your guidance

With kind remembrances,

Believe me to remain

Dear Sir

Yours very sincerely

Fanny Kents de Llobras
